

JASON HODGES LANDSCAPE ARCHITECT

Location

Lubbock, Texas

Years of Experience

27

Education

BA, Anthropology &
Environmental Studies
Texas Tech University 1994

Master of Landscape
Architecture
Texas Tech University 1999

Registration

Texas PLA #2096
New Mexico PLA #352

Professional Expertise

Jason Hodges is a licensed Landscape Architect and founder of Prairie Workshop LLC. Hodges' projects serve as regional models for integrating low-impact development strategies, green infrastructure, local materials, drought-tolerant plants and drip irrigation technology.

Hodges has extensive campus planning and design experience and brings a unique perspective to the development of outdoor space. In addition, his expertise with the use of native plants and collaborative approach to design are assets that make him a valuable landscape consultant and team member.

He has completed projects from master planning through construction documentation for municipal facilities, college campuses, hospitals, urban plazas, streetscapes, public parks, schools, stadiums, public safety facilities, commercial buildings, corporate headquarters, churches, banks and numerous prestigious residences throughout Texas and New Mexico.

Highlighted Projects

National Ranching Heritage Center: Gibson Park, Devitt-Jones North Wing, 6666's Ranch Entry and the Ranch Life Learning Center (Lubbock). Client: NRHC, TTUS

Paul L. Foster School of Medicine: Designed central campus stormwater park featuring public art, landscape gardens and pedestrian mall (El Paso). Client: TTU HSC El Paso

Texas Tech Jones AT&T Stadium: Sports Performance Center, Athletic Dining Facility, West Stadium Plaza, Football Training Facility, University Ave. streetscape, (Lubbock). Client: TTUS

US 62 Streetscape Enhancements: 1.5-mile median, parkway and campus shared-use sidewalk located along an urbanized portion of 19th Street in Lubbock. Clients: Texas Tech University, City of Lubbock & TxDOT

LHUCA Plaza: authored the Master Plan and served as prime/lead consultant for implementation of the downtown art/entertainment space known as LHUCA Plaza which serves as ground zero for Lubbock's monthly First Friday Art Trail celebration.

